Alexandros Stogiannos graduated the Department of German Language and Literature (University of Athens/UoA) and received his PhD in Geopolitics at the Faculty of Turkish & Modern Asian Studies / School of Economics and Political Sciences (UoA).He teaches "Strategical Studies and Geopolitics II: Containment Issues" and "Construction of Geopolitical Indicators within the framework of Systemic Geopolitical Analysis" at the Department of Turkish Studies and Modern Asian Studies of the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens

He is a Senior Researcher at the Laboratory of Geocultural Analyses of the Greater Middle East and Turkey (Faculty of Turkish & Modern Asian Studies), and a Lecturer at the MSc degree program Geostrategic Synthesis and Defence Studies and International Security of the same Faculty.

His Post-Doc research at the Department of Tourism (Ionian University) focuses on the research object Geopolitics of Tourism.

He has authored multiple individual articles in international journals. His research interests focus primarily on Systemic Geopolitical Analysis, as well as on the Theory and History of Geopolitics. In his published case studies, he emphasizes on the implementation of Machine Learning methods, such as Data Mining.Among his publications are the following:

"The Genesis of Geopolitics and Friedrich Ratzel. Dismissing the Myth of the RatzelianGeodeterminism", Springer International Publishing, 2019

 "Religion and politics: a complex geopolitical Greek – Russian relationship", Civitas Gentium - 8:1, σσ. 119-141, 2020

"FriedrichRatzel&RudolfKjellén: Συγκριτική προσέγγιση Πολιτικής Γεωγραφίας & Γεωπολιτικής [FriedrichRatzel&RudolfKjellén: ComparativeApproachtoPoliticalGeography&Geopolitics] ". Civitas Gentium - 6:1 (2018), σσ. 165-190

"Data-Mining Anwendungen in der SystemischenGeopolitik: Eu-Staaten Clusteranalyse ohne das Vereinigte Königreich". Zeitschrift für die RegionaleWissenschaft, Dezember 2016, Vol. II, Nr.1, pp. 49-57, Hellenischer Verband der RegionalenWissenschaftler.