

Sofia Prokou is tenured lecturer of Turkish as a foreign language at the Department of Modern Turkish and Modern Asian Studies at the National & Kapodistrian University of Athens. She has been a tenured lecturer of Turkish as a foreign language at Aegean University, Department of Mediterranean Studies, Rhodes (1999-2010).

She studied Social Sciences at Bosphorus University, Istanbul, Turkey. She has a bachelor's degree in Philosophy from School of Philosophy of Catholic University of Louvain, Belgium. She completed a Master's degree at the same university, at the Institute of Developing Countries. Sofia Prokou is Ph.D. candidate in Linguistics at National & Kapodistrian University of Athens.

Areas of Research: Applied Linguistics, teaching Turkish as a foreign language: teaching the word order for developing the four language acquisition skills/ Grammatical description of Turkish/ Comparative linguistics/.

Sofia Prokou is a Conference Interpreter (Greek/ Turkish/ French/ English), member of AIIC (Association Internationale d'Interprètes de Conférence, Geneva).

For a detailed CV please use the following link:

https://drive.google.com/file/d/1k8zQLCHLa6Elzw5TGa_oT7G7IwIwW7Yl/view?usp=sharing

Contact: sprokou@turkmas.uoa.gr